

Freelance Architect for Residential Design-Build Firm in L.A. (Los Feliz)

Roger Perron Design and Construction is a Los Angeles based Design-Build firm with 33 years in business. We are seeking a freelance architect who has good experience with high-end, single family residential design and code understanding.

Must live in the L.A. area or nearby. We do large to medium sized projects such as multiple room remodels, additions, whole home remodels, second floor additions and custom homes built from scratch.

The architect will work with us on a freelance basis out of their own home office and they can also perform work for other clients. We sell various sizes and scopes of architectural drawings that the architect would do, including preliminary drawings and working construction drawings.

We do all the marketing and obtain the leads. The architect can also possibly go out on client appointments, which would be an additional income source for them.

This relationship can result in various amounts of work for the architect, depending on how much work the architect can handle and how much we sell. Pay is based on experience. Email your resume to jk@rogerperron.com with the subject line of "Freelance Architect". Include your single family home residential drawing experience, samples of drawings done, and contactable references.

For more information about the company, visit www.RogerPerron.com. No phone calls or personal visits will be accepted. We will contact you as soon as possible if you meet the requirements. We look forward to receiving your email at jk@rogerperron.com.
