

JUNIOR ARCHITECTURAL DESIGNER (Revit® Pro) — So. California (SHERMAN OAKS) Office

GL Planning & Design, Inc. is a San Francisco-based architecture firm that specializes in laboratory design of corporate, university, health care and research facilities. GLP offers an exciting career opportunity in a dynamic, team-focused work environment for an experienced Junior Architectural Designer with a minimum of 3 years' experience working on technically oriented commercial architectural projects. Candidates should be dedicated, able to work in a team environment as an integral part of project teams and be able to actively collaborate with design leadership.

Qualifications:

- Applicants must have a professional degree in Architecture and have experience working on technical building projects.
- Applicants must also have strong REVIT® and AutoCAD skills in architectural design and documentation as well as be functional in MS Word and MS Excel.
- Laboratory/facility project experience, healthcare project experience, LEED® Accreditation, computer graphics program experience and a California Architecture License are all strong pluses.
- Legally able to work in the U.S.
- Our office in Sherman Oaks is located on Ventura Boulevard and is close to the freeways. GLP offers a pleasant work environment that reflects our casual yet professional style. We are talented, good natured and have great projects!

GL Planning & Design, Inc. offers an excellent benefits/compensation package. Salaries are commensurate with experience.

GLP is an architecture firm headquartered in San Francisco, is recognized as a leader in the programming, planning, and design of high-technology, corporate and university research facilities. We are dedicated to serving our client's needs, designing to high standards, and to providing technically complex projects which function well. We strive to provide a level of service that is unsurpassed.

Both of our offices in San Francisco and Sherman Oaks provide a pleasant work environment and operate with a casual but professional style. GLP offers an excellent benefits/compensation package and salaries are commensurate with experience.
