

Staff Architect

The SLAM Collaborative has an opportunity for a talented and experienced Staff Architect to join our firm in our Los Angeles office.

The ideal candidate for this position will be able to take direction, work independently, be a team player, gracefully handle changing and evolving directives, and have the ability to complete tasks accurately and rapidly. As a Project Architect, the selected candidate will need to be proficient in Revit and possess 3 – 5 years of relevant post-degree experience. This position will work closely with project teams in a collaborative studio atmosphere on exciting Healthcare projects.

About SLAM: With 215 employees in four offices, SLAM is a diverse, team-oriented group of professionals, specializing in architecture, interiors, landscape design, structural engineering, and construction services. We leverage the unique perspective of each professional (planner, designer, engineer, landscape architect, construction specialist) through an integrated practice approach that makes us uniquely qualified to take responsibility for projects from design through construction.

The SLAM Collaborative supports continuing education programs such as IDP, LEED Certification, and Architectural Registration. Great working environment & benefits.

Apply: employment@slamcoll.com

www.slamcoll.com

SLAM is an Equal Employment Opportunity / Affirmative Action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, protected veteran status, disability status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, genetic information, or any other characteristic protected by law.