savel Architects is a small architectural firm in the vibrant Century City area of Los Angeles. Complementing the architectural practice, the studio is widely recognized for its specialization in forensic architecture and for its technical approach to building design. We are currently hiring individuals with 5-8 years of experience to become part of our unique team of professionals. Our projects require a collaborative effort for investigation, analysis, design, and construction. As a small and unique firm, savel has acquired the respect of the architectural and construction community, leading to a distinctive client base which includes private owners, corporations, institutions, and real estate development companies. Please submit your resume to info@savelarchitects.com.
