

Registered Architect

OK, let's be real for a minute. California is the best state to live in (I lived there for 5 years just after college), however the super high prices, taxes, smog, annoying people and traffic are very frustrating and good cause to consider relocating. I have the answer for you! We are located in Nashville, Tennessee. You may have heard of our city, it is one of the newer "IT" cities, with scores of companies and people moving here. We have a temperate climate, super friendly residents, great school systems, easy traffic navigation, a healthy housing market (even though it is a bit more inflated now than it used to be), beautiful GREEN trees and amazing music everywhere you go (and not just country music either!)

ProjX is a full-service Architecture firm that specializes in healthcare and sustainable design. Over 500 healthcare companies are headquartered in middle Tennessee. Most of our clients are located here, although we do projects all over the United States, including a few in California!

Our physical office is found just south of downtown Nashville in a little community called Berry Hill. There are over 40 recording studios in Berry Hill, most located in renovated houses with lots of character. Tons of restaurants, coffee houses and hangout spots are within walkable distance to our office. We allow a hybrid work-from-home situation, however most of our staff prefers to work in the office as we are extremely collaborative and enjoy working together!

We are currently looking for an Architectural Project Manager. We have several core clients, and have just picked up a couple new large clients that are ramping up more work into 2022 and beyond.

An Architecture license is required, 4-5 years healthcare experience is a plus, and the ability to travel is a must. We offer an amazing benefits package that includes company paid healthcare, dental, and eye insurance, short and long term disability, life insurance, 401k matching, PTO, profit sharing bonuses, personal cell phone and home internet reimbursement and we pay for continuing education and license fees for any states you are licensed in. Our salary is competitive and there is opportunity for advancement into ownership as well.

Please send your resume to me at kcooney@projxllc.com, and include narrative of at least 3 interesting projects you have worked on. References are required.
