

Bunch Design

Location: Los Angeles CA

Office address: 837 Foothill Blvd, La Canada CA

Job Title: Designer (3-6 years experience)

Bunch Design is a growing AIA award winning, design focused, Residential architecture practice located in La Canada, CA (near Altadena/ Pasadena)

WHO WE ARE

Bunch Design specializes in smaller projects often on weird lots with tight spaces on tight budgets for incredibly appreciative non-millionaires...We do lots of ADU's and smaller houses, treating each project like a multigenerational and flexible use compound. Often in collaboration with landscape ideas we believe this new typology will usher in a new type of suburban density in Los Angeles and the country.

Our office is located in a storefront where we also have a small store selling objects for small living which serves as an interface with the larger community. 90% of our projects get built. We don't mess around and the process is collaborative and fun!

WHAT YOU'LL DO (Duties and Responsibilities)

Assist Principals in presentations and design, learn how to make amazing small spaces, compounds, and happy clients. Do this in the Altadena fire rebuild areas

Collaborate with the team to design and execute multiple projects simultaneously.

Excellent design and programming skills at multiple scales with intense curiosity and excellent aesthetic sensibilities.

Work closely with the project team, consultants, and contractors.

Help team assemble/ review interior design, shop drawings, allowances, and specifications. Interiors interest/experience appreciated!

Assist partners with design and project management tasks to ensure client satisfaction, service quality, and financial performance.

Lots of room to grow within the company and a hands on experience at all levels of design and construction.

Build independence and maturity and produce physical built work. Learn spacecraft. Practice what it takes to make real things quickly.
