We're hiring a digital construction project engineer to play a decisive role in the implementation of digital construction systems through the entire project lifecycle. The role is critical to fostering a culture of innovation and collaboration on high-end residential projects through technical execution and communication with the internal team and external stakeholders. This position requires experience and aptitude to quickly learn all technologies and processes within current digital construction systems.

REQUIRED TECHNICAL EXPERIENCE AND COMPETENCIES

- 3-5 years' experience in residential design and/or construction
- 3-5 years of experience delegating tasks to a team
- 3-5 years of Revit use in a professional setting
- 3-5 years of Rhino experience
- 2+ years of experience with Grasshopper, Dynamo or Python scripting languages and processes
- Adobe Creative Suite
- Microsoft Office Suite

WHAT WE OFFER

We are a fun, easygoing bunch of professionals who take a lot of pride in the work we do. We acknowledge the contributions and talents of our team members by providing benefits that support you at work and in life:

- Competitive pay commensurate with skills and experience (range for this position is $90-$125k/year)
- 100% paid medical, dental, vision, and basic life insurance for full-time employees (35% medical coverage for dependents), first of the month following DOH
- 401(k) retirement savings plan with employer profit sharing contribution
- Company-paid short-term disability policy for all full-time employees
- 8 paid holidays each year, no waiting period
- Paid Time-Off (PTO) - starting with 15 days/year, and increasing with years of service
- Mentorship and career development opportunities
- Annual discretionary bonus
- Opportunities for travel, if desired

WHO WE ARE

Dowbuilt is a construction company founded in 1980, and today our talented teams can be found from coast to coast. We excel at cutting-edge, innovative, never-been-done-before residential projects and home service—all of which require precision and impeccable attention to detail. We work with top architects, and our builds are regularly featured in publications such as Architectural Digest, Architectural Record, and Dwell.

The Dowbuilt culture is one of care—care for our employees, clients, and the talented craftspeople we partner with—resulting in care for the incredible designs we bring to life.
