

Frederick Fisher and Partners

ABOUT US

At Frederick Fisher and Partners, our mission is simple—improve life through architecture. We are lucky to work with some of the world's most prestigious educational, cultural, and civic institutions. Our diverse, award-winning projects range from universities and schools to museums and creative workspaces, from adaptive reuse to recreational facilities and parks, from houses to housing.

Guided by four pillars—Process, Context, Function, and Aesthetics—we engage in our design work thoughtfully and thoroughly. While our architecture reflects the rich variety of the clients and communities we serve, our ethos emphasizes clean elegance, domesticity, and delight. In everything we create, we strive to integrate innovation and collaboration, beauty and authenticity, buildability and sustainability, and a broad cultural perspective.

In addition to competitive salaries, benefits, 401K options, and paid vacation time, FFP prides itself on its special office culture. We are a team that truly cares about our work and each other, and we value inclusion, respect, and camaraderie. While we strive for cohesion, we also believe everyone's voice matters. Life-long learning is a priority, and we encourage our talented staff to share their knowledge and interests.

JOB DESCRIPTION: INTERMEDIATE DESIGNER—LOS ANGELES

You are among the best and the brightest—but not in the conventional sense. Although a passion for design and expertise in architectural practice is a must, you are also full of new ideas, are eager to try new things, you are adaptable and flexible, and you take initiative.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Participating in developing design, preparing a drawing set, and producing other deliverables throughout the design process
- Conducting research and development of all project materials, including design options
- Preparing project presentation materials, diagrams, renderings, models, and graphics
- Production of architectural drawings and documentation.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Familiarity with the tasks involved in providing architectural services from pre-design through construction drawings
- Proficiency in design conception and presentation, as well as construction documentation
- Experience and knowledge of architectural design, drafting, detailing, building materials, codes, construction techniques
- General understanding of project and consultant coordination
- Problem-solver who can anticipate needs, help make decisions, and who enjoys working collaboratively with others

- A Bachelor or Master of Architecture from an accredited institution
- Facility using BIM as a design tool
- Minimum 5 years' experience in a similar role
- Strong graphic, oral, and written communications skills
- Excellent work ethic and can perform without constant supervision
- Proficient with Revit and expert in Sketchup, InDesign, Illustrator, Photoshop, and MS Office

BENEFITS

- Casual work environment
- Flex time hours (M-Th 8-6, Friday 8-12)
- PTO
- Medical, dental, vision, STD/LTD coverage
- 401(k)

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Please submit a single PDF including cover letter, resume and samples of work (both academic and professional) to info@fisherpartners.net with the subject heading "Intermediate Designer—Los Angeles". File size must not exceed 5MB.

Due to the high volume of resumes we receive; we are only able to respond to those applicants we are interested in interviewing