Job Captain Retail (CAD)

We're not your average design collaborative, so we're not looking for your average Job Captain either.

We define ourselves a collaborative because this is the trait that lies at the heart of how we work... Collaboratively.

We are thinkers and doers.

We are visionary and grounded.

We are design-focused and results-oriented.

We don't believe design happens in a vacuum, nor do we believe in big reveals.

We believe the best solutions are co-authored, and that design is an iterative process.

We like dialogue and debate, and we believe everyone has a voice because there are never any bad ideas.

We put the customers (animals and robots included) at the heart of everything we create, which means:

- every design is created from a place of relentless curiosity
- we dive deep to inhabit the personas of our end users
- we pressure test our concepts against one metric above all others: have we exceeded expectations of those who experience the spaces we create?

We're also champions for diversity as a design collaborative, drawing from all experience levels and cultural backgrounds within our team of "Bergies" – intentionally staffing project teams inclusively to represent the diverse perspectives of the world around us.

We tend to do our best work with those that feel the same way... Are you that somebody?

We are looking for a driven job captain based in Los Angeles that exudes positivity, approaches work with a collaborative style, and a candidate with a special passion for work in wellness-oriented retail projects for our national clients. Extra credit points if you're well versed in art of asana poses.

Qualifications:

- Professional degree in Interior Design or Architecture
- NCIDQ Certification or Architecture Licensure preferred
- Proficiency with AutoCAD, Adobe Creative Suite and Microsoft Office.
- Proficiency with Revit a plus.
- Minimum of 3-7 years of recent design office experience in retail projects.

Essential Skills and Responsibilities:

- Ability to graphically communicate an idea quickly and effectively, backed by strong technical capabilities regarding building construction and technologies, millwork detailing and consultant coordination.
- Participation in the full design process from conceptual design through Construction Administration as a member of a project team
- Experience with fast-paced, technical projects
- Strong organizational skills
- Conduct site surveys and full code and accessibility reviews
- Prepare design development and construction document packages with project team, consultants, contractors, and vendors

So now it's your turn to show us what you can make with us.

You be the judge – do you want to experience an inclusive, equitable, pathbreaking, progressive workplace? Ready to om this way with our retail project team?
