

Intermediate Architect

Los Angeles, CA (Hybrid)

Your Role

RSS Architects is seeking an Intermediate Architect in Los Angeles to lead the production of technical drawings and clearly communicate project progress, helping ensure projects exceed client expectations.

Our Team

RSS Architects is a small creative architecture and planning studio focused on developing a client-first approach in both design & delivery.

We have a long experience of working within the State of California on a wide range of specialized project types including Healthcare, Industrial, Workplace, and Residential.

What You Will Do

- Produce design and construction documentation for projects
- Coordinate with project teams to ensure design intent is translated into construction documents
- Support construction administration, including site visits, resolving technical issues, and maintaining quality control during construction
- Coordinate and Direct consultants, specification writers to achieve overall project objectives
- Collaborate with Contractors and Regulatory Agencies /3rd party teams
- Use hand sketches, Revit, and 3D software to communicate design concepts

Your Qualifications

- 4-8 years of related professional experience
- Bachelor's degree in Architecture or related field
- Experience in leading healthcare/workspace projects is a plus
- Knowledge of California building codes, zoning, jurisdictional processes, building materials, specifications and construction techniques
- Knowledge of sustainable design strategies; experience with net zero projects is a plus
- Experience in construction document preparation and field observation
- Strong leadership, organizational, verbal and written communication, and relationship management skills
- Strong Revit skills required; and experience in AutoCad, Adobe CS, and other 3D modeling software a plus
- On the path to licensure preferred

Compensation

We offer competitive salaries based on individual's experience. Annual salary range: $70,000 to $100,000.

How to Apply

Please send a copy of your resume & portfolio to jobs@rssarch.com